Wenceslao Gil Durantez is one of the most dynamic and well-known winemakers in Spain. He is known as "Wences". He chose his professional career by chance. After he finished his football player career due to an injury, he decided to attend the School of the Winemaking in Madrid instead. In 1978 he moved to Toro. Bodegas VEGA SAÚCO was founded in 1991 when after working in many wineries in all the North of Spain he decided to buy vineyards in Toro. He fell in love with the Toro area, the land, the weather, its people and mainly with the grape variety "Tinta de Toro". 30 years of working in the area made him one of the greatest experts of his field.

Wences has been innovating in the area since the beginning and was the first to produce "Crianza" and "Reserva" wines. He produced the first sweet natural wine in the area awarded with a gold medal in several contexts during its first year of live. Nowadays he also is experimenting with the first red sparkling wines from Toro.

Currently his wife Mari Jose is responsible for wine tourism and his daughter Patricia, also an Oenologist, are working in the winery with the rest of the professional staff who make up the big family of VEGA SAÚCO.

Bodegas VEGA SAÚCO is a family-owned winery that dates back to 1989, although the family has been in the winegrowing and winemaking business for more than 35 years. However, it was in 1991 that Wences began marketing their red wines made with "Tinta de Toro" variety. It was from this time on that sales increased and the seeds of what is nowadays one of the leading wineries of the Toro Region were sown.

In 1997, we opened up a new winery equipped with the best winemaking systems. The winery mainly makes the highest quality Crianza and Reserva wines. The new winery was complemented with subsequent expansions such as another winemaking area that began with the 2005 harvest and a new cask cellar where 1,000 new casks are stored.

The result are quality wines that are contrasted and backed by their continually increasing market share and faithful clientele, as well as for their prestigious national and international awards and mentions in the most important tastings and contests in the world.

Bodegas VEGA SAÚCO controls 68 ha. of vineyards and they approximately own 60% of these vineyards. Most of these vineyards are planted with red grape of the main variety "Tinta de Toro" while some of these vineyards cultivate the typical white varieties of the area: Malvasia and Verdejo. The average vineyards are 40 years old but many of them are older than a century. They contain both cultivars: bush vines and also trellis system trained vines.

The main variety is the grape that grows in Tinta de Toro, which is defined as a semistraight vine stock and has pentagonal leaves with big dents and a cottonlike fluffy underside with winged cylindrical clusters.

The vineyards of VEGA SAÚCO are situated on the plateau that stretches between the Duero river and its tributary, the Guarena river, next to its estuary area. The local climate is very extreme, the sandy soil is poor and permeable and the gravel that rests on clay with good drenaje thermoregulates the process of ripening. Here the red varieties grow and mature to perfection. The average altitude of this land is 725 metres.
